

Hello

I am working for an Independent production company called Raw Television. We are an award winning Television Company that produces documentary series for major US and UK broadcasters, including the BBC, Discovery, National Geographic and Channel 4.

We are currently producing a new documentary series for BBC Three which will be exploring the subject of courtship and marriage amongst several different religions. The series will aim to give the audience an informed and educated insight into the traditions and values of each faith as well as observing and following a person on their quest to find their life-long partner.

We would like to make the series both accurate and balanced but through the views and experiences of people practicing Sikhism/Hinduism. I would be very interested to speak to anyone that is looking for a potential partner with the guidance of their faith and the local community.

If you would like to know more about the series, please do not hesitate to contact me on 0207 0171643, or email sikh@rawtelevision.co.uk, or hindu@rawtelevision.co.uk

I look forward to hearing from you.

The logo for Raw TV, featuring the word "raw" in a stylized, lowercase, orange-brown font with a slight shadow effect, followed by "TV" in a smaller, uppercase, sans-serif font.